

BLIZZARD RAGES IN MID-WEST

Gov. Cooper Makes Two Addresses Here Tonight

MAIL PLANES FORCED DOWN BY SNOW, WIND

Zero Temperatures to Follow in Wake of Storm.

MAN IS DROWNED
Traffic is Tied up; Several Accidents Reported.

By International News Service.
CHICAGO, Dec. 18.—A howling, raging blizzard swept into the middle west today, borne on a 45-mile-an-hour gale and caused death, destruction of property, traffic accidents and impeded transportation in all sections.

Huge drifts of snow cluttered highways, delaying bus services. Trains crept into stations hours late. Air mail pilots were unable to complete their schedules and many planes were forced down when visibility became extremely bad.

Such was the force of the gale that several roofs were blown down in Chicago, imperiling the lives of many.

Lake Vessels Warned.
Telegraph and telephone facilities were hampered.

One man was drowned, believed to have been blown from a lake house here and a policeman attempting to rescue the body was himself blown into the lake and rescued only with great difficulty.

Lake Michigan was churned into a heaving monster. Warnings were broadcast to lake vessels.

The storm was scheduled to cease by night but zero temperatures were predicted to follow.

Fog Delays Ocean Liners.
By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Heavy fog overhanging New York city and environs today disrupted harbor movements, caused suspension of air mail service and crippled train schedules.

A number of lines were hours late and many of departing ships were waiting for the fog to lift before starting on their journeys.

Among the liners strung out today between Sandy Hook and quarantine—either at anchor or proceeding at a snail's pace—were the Albatross, Santa Cruz, Munargo, Pan-American, Letitia, Olympic, Carinthia and Ekro. They had at least a thousand passengers.

BANDIT VICTIM FOUND IN RUN

Autoist Thrown Into Creek at Smiths Ferry.

Unclothed, semi-conscious and bearing a deep cut across his head, an unidentified Pittsburgh man about 50 years old, was found this morning at 5 o'clock half submerged in the waters of Dog creek, Smith's Ferry.

The man's clothing, as well as the contents of the automobile standing on the road above the creek, which presumably belonged to him, were missing.

As a result, Pennsylvania state troopers, who are investigating, advance the theory that the man was slugged, robbed and thrown over the embankment into the creek. The police wired Harrisburg for a check on the automobile license.

Gaining consciousness for a few moments, the man gave police a name which they recognized as Poole and a telephone number in Pittsburgh, where, he said, the authorities could find his wife.

Poole's condition was discovered by Mrs. Ila Walker, of Smith's Ferry. The man was taken to the home of Mrs. Jennie Duncan, nearby, and was to be removed as soon as possible to the Rochester hospital.

Texas Wants Freedom.
Air Right of Way.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE air mail brings to President Hoover a petition signed by the presidents of seven Haitian political organizations asking him to keep our marines in Haiti and supervise the presidential election coming in April.

This year, little Haiti has 100 candidates for the presidency. They are all fighting men, and their followers are fighting followers. They want the marines to stay and keep them from doing so—other things that they might do.

G. SENTER, running for governor in Texas, says: "I am as much opposed to the reduction of Texas to a dependency of New York City gamblers and stock brokers, as I would be to its annexation by Turkey."

And Mr. Senter is afraid that "the busy march of commerce which now exists in our Texas cities, will soon become ha-rass-ments, and our banks will be converted into subsidiaries of Wall street plungers, and our state become a mere appendage of distant landlords, unless, etc."

ALL this sounds strange to a distant conservative western candidate. He wonders what it is all about, and asks himself, "Does that man in Texas really believe that the people are opposed to have anything to say about their government?"

B. MAYO, aviation engineer, says a genuine air line ought to be built with a right of way one mile wide, landing fields every 15 miles.

With such an arrangement, says he, flight would be possible and safe by night and by day, and in almost any kind of weather.

HOWEVER, long before such an air main road could be assembled and financed, pilots would probably need landing places only every 500 miles.

Many remember crossing the ocean on steamers in the last century with sails stretched, the captains not relying on steam. They don't do that any longer.

THE Wall street crash did not take all the money. A New Yorker bought a diamond for $100,000 for some deserving lady. Perhaps it was a broker, not a customer, that bought it.

If you are looking for a present, and can't think what to give, a Fifth Avenue jeweler has for sale, at $750,000, a necklace of Oriental pearls, good color.

THE recipients of the $100,000 diamond and the $750,000 necklace probably will not enjoy their gifts as much as some girl in Ohio will enjoy getting a small ring with a moog, agate in it.

HOW rich is this country with its growing billions of income a year? One state, New York, carries more than eighteen thousand million dollars a year. Within 20 years the income of the United States has increased by tens of billions.

The earnings of the average family are almost $4,000 a year. What once would have been a comfortable fortune is now a yearly income.

No wonder foreign nations want us in their League of Nations, their World Court, or in something that would create a hold on Uncle Sam and his pocketbook.

IN our American specialty, crime, usually unpunished, you read, "girl found dead in cab near home."

And St. Joseph, Mich., tells of a fugitive from murder supposed to be connected with the whole-sale butchery in Chicago.

The people had almost forgotten that incident.

Half a dozen men, compelled to stand with their faces to the wall, were mowed down with machine guns, called "choppers," by racketeers that use them.

BIG business becomes always bigger and so much the better for big business and the little men.

Bigger business calls for greater ability, creates higher wages. If the people have brains they will not allow big business to become oppressive.

And if they haven't brains, big business will teach them to think. They'll have to.

COUNTY MOTOR CLUB AIDS IN ROAD MARKING

17 Metal Standards Placed by State Official.

AUTOIST HAPPY
"One of Best Marked Cities," Says A. P. Morris.

L. D. Cope, Ravenna, division director of highway signs and markings, yesterday completed the erection of markers on all improved roads in the East Liverpool district.

Seventeen metal standards were erected by Cope and his force. The signs were placed on U. S. Route No. 30, main east and west road, which follows closely the Lincoln highway; State Route No. 7, the Youngstown-East Liverpool road; State Route No. 170, the East Liverpool-East Palestine road, and State Route No. 267, East Liverpool-Lisbon road.

The signs were erected upon the request of Albert E. Morris, manager of the Columbiana County Motor club.

"East Liverpool is now one of the best marked cities in the state," Morris said. "The visiting motorist will have no difficulty in finding his way out of the city."

The highway marking was completed on the eve of the visit of Governor Myers Y. Cooper, State Highway Director Robert N. Wald and other officials who will arrive here tonight preparatory to a trip over the proposed Road of Remembrance between East Liverpool, on the Ohio river, and Kingsville, on Lake Erie, tomorrow.

The Columbiana County Motor club is one of the sponsors of the proposed new road between the river and the lake. Morris attended a rally held at Kingsville last summer when the proposed road was first considered and was instrumental in bringing a road rally to East Liverpool last October.

56 DEAD FOUND IN MINE BLAST IN OKLAHOMA

Five Miners Rescued; Fourteen Others Missing.

176 FATHERLESS

Red Cross Calls for $20,000 Relief Fund.

By International News Service.
MCALISTER, Okla., Dec. 18.—It was reported at 10 a. m. today that 56 bodies had been removed from the Old Town coal mine, where an explosion trapped 65 men.

McALESTER, Okla., Dec. 18.—While grief-stricken relatives looked on, the bodies of 51 victims of the Old Town coal mine disaster were brought to the surface today. This leaves only nine men inside the death trap, as five were rescued.

It was revealed that 15 of the men entombed in the mine were negroes; 32 were Mexicans and 15 were American.

Danger of another explosion was threatening the rescue workers as they labored machine-like to bring to the surface the bodies of their dead comrades.

Gas Dense in Shaft.
According to Miller D. Hay, chief state mine inspector, the gas is so dense in the lower shaft where the bodies of the remaining victims are located, that the rescue workers are in constant danger.

Five men rescued are Charles Penfield, mine engineer, Joe Griffin, Arnold Kessinger, Joe Pon-sella, Mexican and Frank Gonzalez. This accounts for 51 of the sixty-five of the men imprisoned.

The condition of both Gonzales and Kessinger is said to be critical.

According to one of the rescue workers the explosion occurred at the bottom of the mine some 5,000 feet underground, back under the city of McAlester.

Governor Holloway has been asked by Red Cross officials to issue a call for a relief fund of $20,000 to care for the wives and children of the victims.

A. J. Putterbaugh, president of the McAlester Fuel company said today that approximately 176 children would be fatherless as the result of the explosion.

Victims Badly Burned.
Miller D. Hay, chief mine inspector, told International News Service today that no cause for the explosion has been attributed as yet.

About 1,000 persons, relatives and friends of the imprisoned miners, huddled together at the mouth of the mine throughout most of the night.

Most of the bodies brought to the surface were burned badly, making identification difficult.

No Anxiety for Safety of Daring Pilots.

By International News Service.
LONDON, Dec. 18.—Genuine fears began to be felt today for the safety of squadron leader, A. G. Jones-Williams, and flight lieutenant, N. N. Jenkins, British war aces, attempting a non-stop flight from Cranwell aerodrome to Cape Town, South Africa, a distance of 6,000 miles.

No news of any sort has been received from or concerning the fliers for 24 hours.

By International News Service.
LONDON, Dec. 18.—Two distinguished British war pilots, Squadron Leader A. G. Jones-Williams and Flight Lieutenant N. H. Jenkins, today were believed to be speeding southward over the great Sahara desert of Africa in their attempt to make a non-stop flight from England to Capetown, South Africa, 6,000 miles away.

Although the air ministry stated this morning that it had had no news of the airmen's progress, no anxiety for their safety was expressed.

The airmen hopped off from Cranwell aerodrome, Lincolnshire, yesterday in a Royal Air Force Fairey-Napier monoplane.

They carried 1,000 gallons of gasoline which they estimated would be sufficient to keep them aloft about 60 hours.

Eight hours after their start, the fliers radioed they were off the coast of Sarina in the Mediterranean.

ROMNEY, W. Va., Dec. 18.—Walter Crabtree, 35, who has been known locally as a "bad boy" for some time, armed himself with a shotgun this morning and a list of five prominent citizens of this community whom he did not like and fared forth in search of them.

He went first to the home of H. B. Inskeep, 50, a justice of the peace, called him to the door and shot him through the abdomen, causing almost instant death.

Leaving his victim where he fell, Crabtree then proceeded to the jail where he summoned Jailer Ben A. Miller to the entrance. He blew most of Miller's head off.

From the jail, Crabtree went to the home of Asa Wolford, a war veteran, and shot him through the window, killing him.

By this time word reached Sheriff J. V. Saville that Crabtree was on a killing rampage, and taking Deputy Joseph Horn with him, hurried to the home of Crabtree's father, E. B. Crabtree.

The father told the sheriff that his son was upstairs, and there the officers found him. He was prosaically cleaning his gun.

GRAFTON GIVEN COUNCIL SEAT IN WELLSVILLE

Democrat Will Serve Until Recount Is Made.

PETERS RETIRES

Solicitor Rules on Question of Issuing Certificate.

John H. Grafton, Democrat, will be seated as a member of council from the Second ward, Wellsville, at a re-organization meeting Tuesday night, January 7, under a ruling handed down last night by City Solicitor Raymond Knepper.

Knepper's opinion followed an inquiry from City Auditor Fred H. Eckfeld regarding the issuance of a certificate of election. This was prompted by the recount demand made by Councilman Charles S. Peters, Republican, who, on the face of the returns, was defeated by Grafton by one vote.

The ruling of the solicitor was based on section 5115 of the general code of the state of Ohio which provides as follows: "The returns of municipal elections shall be made by the judges and clerks in each precinct to the clerk or auditor of the municipality. Such clerk or auditor, or, in his absence or disability, the mayor, and, in his presence, shall make an abstract and ascertain the candidates elected, as herein required with respect to county officers. Such clerk or auditor shall make a certificate as to each candidate so elected, and cause to be delivered to him."

The opinion continues: "This section in connection with other sections of the general code provides in detail for your procedure in the case of an election. It is your duty to receive the votes and with the assistance of the mayor prepare an abstract. Then it is your duty to determine from the face of the abstract of the returns who received a plurality of the votes cast for that particular office. In arriving at your decision you are to consider only the face of the abstract of the returns and are not permitted to consider collateral matters such as election contests. It is your further duty to issue a certificate of election to the candidate so elected upon the face of the returns and to cause it to be delivered to him. Your duty is to issue a certificate of election is made mandatory by the language of the above section and action in mandamus would likely compel you to so perform your duty. The person so elected upon the face of the abstract of the returns is a de facto councilman and is entitled to a certificate of election and to the privileges of the office of councilman until his election is otherwise determined by the council of the city of Wellsville."

Courage Wins Happiness in Tough Battle

YOU would think a very old lady laid up with a broken thigh in a plaster cast would be a hard person to keep happy. Yet, according to Nurse Helen V. Griffin, 64 Prospect Avenue, Hackensack, New Jersey, it can be done—if you know how.

"My patient," says Miss Griffin, "being unable to move about by herself became very constipated. Many medicines in pill form were used with little or no results. Finally when we came home from the hospital I began the use of Nujol.

"Soon my patient became regular and comfortable, without any pain or discomfort. Now she is happy and cheerful, since regularity has begun and continued with such little trouble."

If Nujol will make an old lady feel well, what will it do for you?

Nurse Griffin knew how harmless Nujol is, containing no drugs or medicine, but acting only as a natural lubricant. She knew how it keeps excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) and helps carry them away.

MODERN HOBO MORE HONEST

Losses Due To Robbery Of Freight In Transit Show Big Decrease.

WASHINGTON. — Hoboes are becoming honest!

Losses due to robbery of freight while in transit were the lowest for the first six months this year on record, the American Railroad association announced. Such thefts totaled $110,103 in claims, a decrease of $127,157 over the same period in 1928, and a drop of about $6,000,000 below the amount paid out in the first half of 1929, when the losses were the greatest in history.

Increasing honesty of hobs, who ride the trains and loiter around freight yards and efficiency of the private policemen of the yards caused the slump in thefts.

8-DAY FEAST OF LIGHTS TO OPEN DEC. 26

Jews Will Mark Period Dedicated To Heroism.

HISTORIC EVENT

Light Candles; Re-count Fight Against Oppression.

East Liverpool Jews are preparing to celebrate the Feast of Lights, known in Hebrew as Hanukkah, which will open Thursday, December 26, and continue for about eight days. No special services are planned by the Jewish congregations here.

This feast is dedicated to the supreme qualities of endurance, courage, valor, and heroism of the Jewish people as exemplified in its struggle against the forces of darkness throughout the generations. For this reason, the message and significance of this midwinter celebration constitute permanent values of vital importance to the world at large as well as to the present generation of Jews.

Around 200 B. C. E. Palestine was the bone of contention between the Syrian and Egyptian rulers. In the year 168 B. C. E. Antiochus Epiphanes, king of Syria, made his way into Jerusalem and vented his spleen on the Jewish people. He put a great number of the inhabitants of Jerusalem to death, plundered their homes and desecrated the temple of Jerusalem.

But in order to assure himself of complete domination of the land of Judah, he thought it essential to uproot the spiritual and cultural forces of the Jewish people. He burned Scrolls of the Torah and forbade its study under penalty of death. He tortured all who practiced the rite of initiation, who observed the Sabbath, and who continued to cling fast to any of the Jewish principles and customs. Thus by dint of the sword, Antiochus Epiphanes sought to impose upon Judah and the Jewish people the half-Hellenized culture of Syria which was no more than a degraded paganism.

In that crucial hour, Mattathias, the aged priest in the village of Modin, and his five valiant sons exhibited their unswerving courage in their struggle against the tyrannical edicts and rule of the Syrian king. With Judah the Maccabean as the leader and with a small courageous group of men, Mattathias and his sons rose in rebellion against Antiochus Epiphanes. They took up arms against the overwhelming Syrian forces, fought with untold perseverance and heroism, and finally dealt the mighty army of Syria the fatal blow of defeat. In the year 165 B. C. E. Judah the Maccabean entered Jerusalem, purified the Temple, and rededicated it to the worship of the one God.

From generation to generation the Jewish people commemorate this historic event by lighting candles in the home of the synagogue, and by recounting to the children the valor and heroism of Israel in its perennial fight against tyranny and oppression. In this way the Jewish people are preserving the Feast of Hanukkah as a symbol of the victory of the forces of light over the forces of darkness—the two forces which clash in every age and every land.

GREEN SOUNDS LABOR APPEAL

More Organization
Greatest Need Says
Leader.

By International News Service.
CINCINNATI, O., Dec. 18.—An appeal for greater organization of labor has been sounded today by William Green, of Coshocton, president of the American Federation of Labor, who spoke before representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks here.

Declaring that the American Federation cannot be exclusive, the president said:

"Our greatest need is more organization, to bring the unorganized into the union. We must go out and bring in the unorganized. The greatest menace to the union worker is the non-union person."

The highlight of Green's address was the announcement that an attempt to organize labor in the strike town fields of Charlotte, N. C., would be made January 6. This would precede a consolidated movement for the organization of labor throughout the entire south, Green said.

In explaining his statement that the greatest menace to the union is the non-union worker, Green declared:

"Strikes are lost, not through the lack of heroism on the part of strikers, but because non-union workers take their places. For every member in the labor movement there are 20 outside of it."

BELIEVES AGE LIMIT WRONG

Attorney General Webb, San Francisco, Says Old Labor Practice Unsound.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—In employing men, "age limits are illogical, unsound and in conflict with human experience," according to Attorney General L. S. Webb.

Webb was asked by W. A. Johnston, head of the state civil service commission whether the state should consider age limits in employing men. Johnston in turn transmitted the information to Gov. C. C. Young.

Webb maintained the state should not maintain any age limit in hiring state employees.

Survey of the ages of state employees revealed that in some departments 60 years was the maximum age, while the majority did not employ persons more than 50 years old.

CITY TO CUT LIGHT BILLS

Wellsville Council Orders Reduction in Wattage.

Council last night before adjourning sine die virtually went on record in favor of a reduction of light wattage next year after Councilman Richard Keay had called the attention of the members to the fact that the city was expending almost $4,000 more than the money voted on a millage levy for the upkeep of the lights.

Keay stated that $5,000 was provided annually by the additional millage, while this year the cost of upkeep would total almost $9,000. His proposal calls mainly for the reduction of some of the 400 watt lights to 250 with possibly a slight reduction in the other lights.

City Solicitor Raymond Knepper was instructed to investigate the proposed purchase of a strip of land owned by George B. Aton at the mouth of the McQueen Run sewer which he had offered to sell to the city in order that the run may be kept free of obstructions.

Ordinances were passed under suspension of the rules for assessments covering the cost of improving Commerce street from Ninth to Fifteenth streets and Michael alley from Seventeenth to Eighteenth street and Aton avenue. The cost of the former was $2.38 per front foot, while that of the latter was $2.75.

Supplemental appropriation ordinance providing for the following amounts was passed under suspension of rules: Service fund, legal advertising and general administration, $25; engineer's salary, $100; engineer, incidentals, $10; street cleaning, labor, $100; street lighting, $150; sewer repairs, labor, $500; sewer repairs, material, $300; city hall repairs, $300; cemetery fund, tools and implements, $150; water fund, office incidentals, $50; supplies, employees and engineer, $650; filtration and other maintenance expenses, $300; pipe extension, $100.

Auditor Fred H. Eckfeld reported the following balances in the various funds: General, $1,326; safety, $807.93; health, $854.13; service, $2,095.24; water, $3,139.13; cemetery, $1,675.09; library, $188.90; gas tax, $2; automobile licenses, $2.30; firemen's indemnity, $322.90; cemetery trust, $214.92; Seventeenth street sewer, $252.68; Michael alley, $167.07; sinking fund, $26,480.60.

Welcome, Gov. Cooper!

East Liverpool, pottery center of America and among the pioneers in the movement for better highways, tonight will greet Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, who will be the city's guest on the eve of a 100-mile trip tomorrow over the proposed Road of Remembrance which will connect the Ohio river and Lake Erie.

The state executive, who, through the highway department, has always manifested a willingness to co-operate in the movement to permit the markets and schools of the respective communities to be reached on year-round roads, will be tendered a dinner at the Travelers' hotel by directors of the Chamber of Commerce, following which a reception will be held in the hotel lobby, and later he will speak at a meeting in the high school auditorium.

The purpose of the governor's visit is to inspect the Road of Remembrance linking East Liverpool, on the river, with Kingsville, on the lake, along which elm trees are to be planted by the townships through which it traverses in honor of America's World War dead. The importance of this highway has been stressed by the Columbiana County Motor club, which, through Manager Albert P. Morris, has played no small part in the movement looking toward its designation as a state highway. Interest in the proposal has been stimulated by the automobile owners who have cited the fact that the highway taps industrial and agricultural zones in Columbiana, Mahoning, Trumbull and Ashtabula counties hundreds of whose sons died on the battle fields of Europe.

East Liverpool and Columbiana county, whose people admire the state's chieftain and are proud of the achievements of his administration, welcome him and bespeak his co-operation in the realization of their hopes for the Road of Remembrance.

Grundism

Despite the belligerent entries of Senator Nye, of North Dakota, Joseph R. Grundy is not deterred to take the senate seat denied William S. Vare. The reasons behind the rejection of the latter do not stand in Mr. Grundy's case and his appointment by the governor of Pennsylvania was accepted by majority senate vote.

Whatever other titles Mr. Grundy may win for himself in the next few years, he holds undisputed right to a very significant one at the present moment—chief of the high tariff lobbyists. His selection to represent the chief of high tariff states is appropriate. As far as Mr. Grundy is concerned, it is also very helpful, because it has enabled him to come down out of the gallery, where he is a familiar figure, and pursue his activities on the floor, where he can be in close touch with the battles as they rage.

In view of the fact that it was this champion of the money interests of the east who testified to the opinion that senators from the less important states should tread easily in the vicinity of the toes of the more powerful states, it is safe to predict that his sojourn in the upper house will not be one of complete amicability. His avowed activities as a lobbyist will be another stigma that he will be forced to overcome in the upper house, and for that matter, in the country at large, which has declared more or less of an open season on gentlemen of his profession.

Mr. Grundy's appointment, although coming from a powerful state, does not meet with general approval. It is not that he is incapable, but rather that he is too capable in his particular field, which is not viewed with favor by a large portion of the country and by the administration. In naming him, Governor Fisher lost an opportunity to clear Pennsylvania's good name and evidently chose to arouse further ill-feeling. Between Mr. Grundy and Mr. Vare there is little to choose, except that the former enters the senate through the front door. It is a very unfavorable indication of the state of politics in the state of Pennsylvania.

Harbingers of 1930

The new calendars are adding their bit to the Christmas mail burden and for the next month they will be conspicuous by their newness and interesting for their advance glimpse of 1930—showing on what day important birthdays fall and whether any of the important holidays come on Monday.

The majority of business firms, stores and industrial corporations use calendars as an advertising medium. They are expensive, but they are effective 365 days of the year. Since visibility is the important thing, great care has been taken to make the advertising matter stand out above all else, but not at the expense of the calendar itself, which in a former day was placed inconspicuously under a cover. The paramount function of the calendar then was decoration.

From the elaborate Chinese calendars, which were so laboriously compounded and illuminated as to be almost priceless down through the times of Julius Caesar and Pope Gregory to the present day, there have been many improvements. One of these improvements saved the United States a great deal of inconvenience, because it changed Washington's birthday from the eleventh day of February to the twenty-second. Lincoln, America's Man of Destiny, was foreordained to be born on the twelfth day of the same month and had the two holidays followed each other, they would have riddled a perfectly good business week.

The greatest boon to popular distribution of the calendar was the invention and perfection of the lithographer's art added a touch of color and beauty. There were the pictures of ethereal ladies with wide-brimmed hats, dishes of luscious fruit, a lonesome puppy dog, a horse's head—all the thousand and one products of the artist's imagination.

The calendars of today, like almost everything else, are designed for both utility and beauty. Those boasting pictures frequently display masterpieces of art. The numerals are made to be seen and not to be hunted. In an era when time is the most precious thing, the calendar has become a working standard, whose only rival is the clock.

Helping the Heart

The public health aspect of heart disease is the subject treated by the United States Public Health service in a recent article. A very comprehensive statement has been made concerning the symptoms and treatment of an affliction which is rarely faced bravely and usually not recognized until it manifestations become acute.

Many persons with chronic heart disease maintain a fair condition of health for years under favorable conditions. It must be realized, however, that a diseased heart performs its tasks under a special handicap and certain allowances should be made.

The exercise of any muscle within healthful limits is followed by increased size and power. After the limit is reached, additional exercise, or overstrain, causes the muscle to become thinner and weaker, and less able to function. In the case of the heart muscles, increases in size and strength in response to the greater demand on the energy in diseased conditions is called "compensation." The process of thinning with lessened ability to function is called "decompensation" and is characterized by breathlessness, pallor and rapid pulse on slight exertion. All treatment of heart disease depends largely on the presence or absence of symptoms of decompensation.

Limiting physical activities, avoiding emotional excitement, rest in bed, avoiding use of drugs, and improved nutrition are the salient points in the treatment of heart disease. Nutrition and rest are the most important; the public health service has discovered a close connection between malnutrition and heart disease.

The public schools are the battle front of heart disease. School nurses, if given the proper co-operation, can discover it in time to treat it properly and save the victim endless suffering and, perhaps, premature death. If recognized before reaching the decompensation stage, the patient need suffer little curtailment of activities other than non-participation in strenuous competition. From the community standpoint, the school nurse and her follow-up work in the home are of infinite value. She should emphasize that every child with a cardiac condition, however mild, should be watched carefully and given positive treatment.

One of the greatest difficulties to overcome in the treatment of heart disease is the unwillingness of its victim to take their condition seriously. It amounts to deliberate evasion of an unpleasant fact. This cowardice must be overcome when it affects the health of children. Intelligent treatment can save them.

Other Editorial Opinions

THE JOB IN HAITI.

If the congress of the United States were less habitually partisan and political in its reactions, or if more men of genuine size were in control of its councils, there would be no need, and little excuse, for the emergency message which President Hoover has sent to the body regarding the situation that has developed in Haiti. He could go ahead and do what must be done, and talk afterward. But as matters stand, Mr. Hoover, in requesting congress to give him authority to create a commission to inquire into the subject of Haitian relations with the United States, has forestalled action which almost inevitably would have been taken by the senate on its own account, had he not done so; or if he has not checked another outburst of the irrefragable tendency of the upper house to "investigate" anything and everything, he at least has beaten that body to it, and has taken the first gloss off any action the senators may now take. Which while not very important, at least adds a little to the joy of life.

Meanwhile, there is not much real doubt about the general course the government of the United States should pursue in dealing with Haiti. Under pressure of necessity, and to put a stop to a condition of continuous, hideous barbarism at our very doorstep, America intervened in that country; and since the first marines landed at the command of President Wilson, a new condition of security and progress has grown up in the black republic.

However, the change has not struck deep. Nor would it be reasonable to expect so soon, a solid understanding of, and respect for, stable law and government, or a genuine comprehension of what goes to make up enlightened civilization, in a land inhabited largely by the descendants of African savages, French adventurers and Spanish buccaners.

Having put its hand to the plow, the United States must remain where it is for a long time, educating, instructing, admonishing, and perhaps occasionally judiciously chastising; and all the while exercising the infinite patience required in dealing with a robust, active, promising, but self-willed and somewhat riotous child. Otherwise this nation must expect to see Haiti revert speedily into the status of a bloody butchery.—Detroit Free Press.

THE ADVANCE TRIP

New York Day By Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Loud hoots for Grover Whalen's regulation of theater traffic have simmered to a mere hum. The idea has definitely clicked, and those who looked upon Mayor Walker's police commissioner as a sort of civic poise are chanting his praise. He is now the white haired boy.

Whalen took a big gambling chance in his quixotic effort to cut the moose that was slowly strangling theatrical life in America's amusement capital. Had he failed he would have been swept out of office on a gale of laughter. Older heads wagged dubiously. Whalen gracefully went it alone.

Before his plans were set in motion, theater goers in some instances had to start for the theater an hour before curtain time and even then often arrived late. The night chaos was indescribable and growing worse. The situation was more serious than the public realized.

Had a great fire broken out in the theatrical zone between 7:30 and 8:30 the probable loss of life and property, due to clogged and impassable streets, could not be calculated. Although Whalen knew this, he did not stress the danger in forcing his plan.

In making such startling changes, there was needed, of course, a period for adjustment. In six weeks, things began to run smoothly. Today it has been proven by actual timing that a trip requiring usually an hour in other days can be made in 16 minutes.

The hardest blow fell on restaurants in the theatrical district. Due to strict no parking orders, they have suffered severe losses. Some were forced to quit. But the innovation has been for the greatest good of the greatest number.

One of the big howls came from the operators of cruising taxis who were completely shunted out of the area during restricted periods. In a few weeks, however, these charioters discovered that instead of business slumping it was better than ever.

So it is the dandified Mr. Whalen with his white spats, lapel rose and silken mustaches, has completely confounded his critics, like can set up an irritation that makes the whole body sick for the time being.

These wonderful days of early winter invite one to be out in the fresh air and sunshine. Plenty of good, fresh air and sunshine can do more to brace you up and make your eyes well than any other thing in the world. The child who is urged to play out-of-doors every possible hour is storing up health to carry him over the shut-in days of winter.

B. M. R. Q.—Is there any relief for hay fever? Is it contagious or hereditary? Would the use of face powder tend to cause further irritation? Is climate a factor?

A.—Yes. See a nose and throat man for careful examination and treatment. No. The excessive use of powder might cause further irritation under the circumstances. Yes. Your doctor will advise you.

L. E. Q.—Is there any way to reduce the arm between the shoulder and elbow?

A.—Exercise will reduce flabby flesh, but if the arm is large due to muscular development little can be done. Reducing in general will tend to reduce the arms.

MRS. WM. D. Q.—What is the cause of rickets?

A.—Rickets is due to improper diet and sometimes unhygienic surroundings. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. S. Q.—Is it wise to take a twelve-month-old baby to the country? What precautions should be taken to guard against typhoid fever, etc.?

A.—If the water is boiled and the baby's regular diet is followed, being careful to have everything properly cooked, there should be no danger. If there is any reason to suspect the milk it should be brought to the boiling point and then cooled before giving it to the child.

J. W. F. Q.—What will remove blackheads?

A.—First correct the diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee. Eat simple food. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question. Copyright, 1929, Newspaper Service, Inc.

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES

FRANK SWANEY, long the manager of the Bell Telephone company in East Liverpool, who resides on land jutting the airport on the Lincoln highway, is directing the business activities connected with the school of aviation.

For sixteen years when he visited California and there became acquainted with J. Fowler, of Los Angeles, one of the early pilots of the country, he has had a determination to become active in air transportation.

His close acquaintance with De Barr Peat, who laid out the Bettys' air field near Pittsburgh, Pa., has also contributed to his flying interest.

As a member of the aviation committee of the East Liverpool Chamber of Commerce he was instrumental in aiding and bringing about the marking of East Liverpool upon the roof of the Frank Crook company for the benefit of plane pilots. Initially this was done when Col. Lindbergh visited the city two years ago.

Later this sign has been repainted and an arrow attached pointing towards the airport with the number "4," signifying the distance to it by a northern route.

Signs of similar nature and importance are now erected on structures in Lisbon, Wellsville, Sallenville and New Cumberland, W. Va., all of which serve to guide the riders of the skies into the haven of the local airport for safety, rest and direction.

To a member of the Fourth Estate, Robert Rakkes, then the editor of the Gloucester Journal, of Gloucester, England, goes the signal credit of organizing the first Sunday school in the world.

He succeeded his father to the editorship of this four-page periodical in 1757. A replica of this paper of the date November 3, 1783, containing notations of the happenings of 146 years ago, is now in the possession of Mrs. Clarissa Burford, widow of the late Robert Burford, of West Sixth street, this city, who is a native of the community from which the instigator of church Bible classes first saw the light of day.

Mrs. Burford has several times returned from which the instigator of church Bible classes first saw the light of day.

She also has a medal issued in 1881 when the centenary anniversary of his action was celebrated. There is upon it in circular form running the length of the medal the words of Jesus Christ, "Suffer little children to come unto me."

The commemoration of the fifty anniversary of the reign of Queen Victoria in 1887. It likewise is suspended from a ribbon and carries a likeness of the illustrious grandmother of the present ruler, King George.

The model has upon it the date of the queen's birth, May 24, 1819, and that of her accession to the throne, June 20, 1837. Her titles of Queen of the United Kingdom and Empress of India are also given.

K. Y. HART, perhaps the only survivor in this section of the country who, as a child, rode up on the Beaver canal boats when with his parents he came to Fredericktown, this county, where he long lived as a blacksmith and farmer, shows continued interest in riding in the latest modes of transportation.

He has taken to motor-cycling despite the fact that he has passed the eighty-year mark by three or more years. With a competent driver of these fast moving machines he does not hesitate to take a rear seat for a bit of excursion about the roadways leading from his home in the Northside.

From canal boat to motor-cycling represents a wide range of speed which to some extent connects the progress made in four-score years of locomotion. In all of the various manners in which he has been permitted to travel Mr. Hart has ever shown interest and keen enjoyment.

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

OUR eyes are the most delicate organs of the body, and what scant thought we give them!

If we are in good, robust health, the eyes are bound to be strong and capable of much work. But yet defective eyes appear to be as prevalent as defective teeth.

The majority of people who suffer from eye troubles have what the oculists call "far sightedness," but what in its practical effects results in shortsightedness. This form of eye weakness is on the increase. What causes it?

Children appear to be afflicted with poor vision today much more than formerly. A generation ago we seldom saw children wearing eye-glasses, but older people always. Somehow, it was never thought that a child could have eye weakness, or could be in need of corrective glasses.

Today, in the schools, it is usual for the teacher to report cases of eye strain in children under her care. As a result the parents send the child to a competent specialist for treatment.

Eye weakness and eye disease in children come very often as an after-effect of rickets. Rickets is due to lack of a right diet, causing a weakening of all the muscles and bones. The muscular parts of the eyeball grow weak, lose their elasticity, they become stretched and the child becomes short-sighted.

More and more, today, physicians are finding that many ills are caused by faulty diet. The wrong food and wrong eating are more to blame for ill health than any other one thing. To have a strong body and mind you must keep the body built up with the right food, not just any food.

When you are "run down" your body resistance to disease is lowered, and naturally in many cases the eye muscles are weakened. Now, your doctor will tell you, is the time to have a change of diet, and perhaps a vacation, to allow the body and the eyes to recuperate. Plenty of fresh air and sunlight are absolute essentials in the process of building up the bodily tissues.

There are a number of common ills that bring eye weaknesses. For instance, if anemia is present the eyes are apt to be affected. It is a condition which is caused by malnutrition, and results in a lack of red corpuscles in the blood.

Near-sighted and far-sighted persons are likely to have impaired vision. This effect may be overcome by properly adjusted eye-glasses or spectacles.

Sties come from eye-strain or an infection from some foreign substance. A small particle of dust carried into the eye by the wind

MISS BORDONI SINGS, DANCES

"I am one actress and zat ees my beesness." That is a line spoke by Irene Bordon in "Paris." It describes with simple accuracy one's reaction to this piquant little Broadway star, whose initial screen venture is the feature at the American theater. She is certainly one actress — and what an actress!

Bordon is refreshingly different. From her intriguing French accent to her twinkling toes she spells a novel screen personality. She has brought "Paris," her New York stage success, with all its original charm to the First National-Vitaphone screen.

The star sings and dances in some very spectacular theater sequences, although the picture is mostly a comedy-drama.

Some of the outstanding scenes of "Paris" are made in Technicolor — the wonderful new process which has finally perfected the art of photography in natural colors. We see a famous Parisian music-hall during the performance of one of those glittering revues for which the City of Light is so famous. These color effects are not only startlingly realistic — they are utterly beautiful. And in the midst of this chromatic revelation is Bordon — Bordon the laughing, the singing, the scintillating — Bordon at her most inimitable!

'GLORIOUS NIGHT' CERAMIC BILL

With a complete background of the legitimate stage, "His Glorious Night," which opens tomorrow at the ceramic theater, as a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer dialogue feature, starring John Gilbert, presents an interesting study in personalities.

To begin with, the story comes from the pen of one of Europe's most prolific playwrights, Ferenc Molnar, whose sophisticated writings have made him an international figure in the theater world. "His Glorious Night" is a screen adaptation of his famous play, "Olympia." Then there is Willard Mack, noted New York playwright, actor, producer and director, whose splendid adaptation of the play, adding a modern touch to the lines, greatly enhances the value of the comedy-drama in entertainment values.

Lionel Barrymore, who directed the sparkling feature, his third feature directorial effort, is, of course, known to audiences as an outstanding figure of the American stage, having won wide fame with his brother and sister, John and Ethel, in the theater before embarking upon a screen career, reaching a dramatic triumph in his characterization in "The Copperhead," his last play.

'THE SAP' PROVES AN OLD ADAGE

One of our old adages insist that no house is big enough to hold two families.

If this be true, imagine the goings-on in the little South Dakota cottage where the two sisters and their quarreling husbands — one a family triangle — two unsuccessful speculators and three bank robbers — gather under one roof!

This is the situation in "The Sap," Warner Bros.' new Vitaphone comedy at the State theater today with Edward Everett Horton, Alan Hale, Patsy Ruth Miller, Franklin Pangborn and Edna Murphy as the five fast workers. They get along about as well as such a collection of difficulties can be expected to get along, which is not at all.

Horton has the comedy chance of his life. The town simpleton, the luckless inventor, the indolent husband and self-named victim of an expected bank robbery expose — turns bandit, speculator and bank president in rapid succession. There are a dozen of priceless situations with a small town, simple folk background that the Vitaphone makes so realistic.

Twenty thousand agricultural workers, nearly one-fourth of the population of the Torreon district of Mexico, are reported to be out of work with no possibility of employment.

Suggest.

A warning to motorists to be careful during rainy weather when driving in streets where there are traction car rails was issued today by officials of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company.

Drivers have been instructed to take extra precautions when stopping and when running in traffic and to keep the sand boxes well filled, they said. "Warm temperatures, following an extreme cold spell, bring the frost to the top of the rails, making it difficult to stop the street cars."

"Also, a drizzling rain moistens the sand and dirt particles on the rails and makes them dangerously slick. If the drivers of automobiles will co-operate with the street car motormen, traffic need be no more dangerous in this weather than in any other kind."

Farewell to "gift problems"

(so-called!)

WHO named them "gift problems"? Christened them so without rhyme or reason. Selecting appropriate gifts for those particular friends of yours need never bring the tiniest, puzzled wrinkle to your brow. You can do it so quickly with Hamiltons.

Smart, beautifully designed, accurate Hamilton watches... in strap, pocket, or wrist models... await your inspection. Come in now and make your choice from our fine assortments. Prices from $50 to $685.

Two popular Hamiltons—
a strap model, $55. Below:
The CHEVY CHASE—one of the new wrist watches at $60.

THIS IS ACCURACY

Equally applied to alarm clock, cuckoo, and chronometer, the word "accuracy" has been lavishly used. Advertising has made its meaning so flexible, that it must be qualified in order to connote the degree of accuracy found in HAMILTON-SANGAMO Clocks.

The standard of accuracy for Hamilton-Sangamo has been set by that fine watch—the Hamilton. Every one of these excellent clocks has a standard Hamilton watch escapement, made extremely accurate by the even flow of power which electric winding produces. When a jeweler speaks of accuracy, he means the sort provided by Hamilton, or Hamilton-Sangamo.

FIRELESS YULE IS APPEAL OF CHIEF BRYAN

Avoid Hazards During Holiday Season,
He Urges.

LISTS "DON'TS"

Save Life, Property,
He Tells Santa
Claus.

"Make this Christmas a fireless Christmas!"

This was the appeal made by Fire Chief Thomas Bryan today in warning against fire hazards during the Yule season.

Spirit of Christmas would be lacking without a tree and the fancy decorations which have become a necessary part of the holiday. Chief Bryan said, but these can be had with a minimum of danger of fire if a little care is taken in preparing and erecting them.

The fire department head issued the following list of "don'ts" as a means of eliminating fire dangers:

"Don't trim trees with inflammable decorations. Slow burning and fireproof products, such as metal tinsel, flake asbestos and powdered mica may now be purchased, with the safety feature added to their beautifying effect. The same rule should be observed in the decoration of rooms.

"Don't set up the Christmas tree without taking care to fasten it securely so that there will be no danger of its toppling over.

"Don't use Lighted Candles.

"Don't play lively games during the festivities in the room where the Christmas tree is located.

"Don't use electric light sets that are not standardized equipment."

"Don't hang electric bulbs on the tree in contact with anything that could be ignited by their heat. Although electric tree lights are usually safe if properly installed, a colored spotlight focused on the tree is the safest of all and produces a very beautiful effect.

"Don't attempt any special wiring for Christmas unless the national code is followed.

"Don't use electric toys and appliances carelessly.

"Don't use lighted candles on the Christmas tree or anywhere else.

Spray Santa's Costume.

"Don't let Santa Claus himself be a fire hazard. Offentimes his costume would burn furiously, if accidentally ignited. It can be rendered safer if sprayed with a solution of water glass which is obtainable at all drug stores.

"Don't give children dangerous toys such as those requiring gasoline, kerosene or alcohol."

"Don't give the child's motion picture machines that use inflammable film. In addition to its quick-burning features this film gives off deadly fumes when burning.

"Don't smoke or use matches near flimsy decorations.

"Above all don't lose your head if an accidental fire should occur."

A fire extinguisher or a pail of water kept in readiness may be the means of quickly putting out a small fire, but if it will not do so instantly, turn in a fire alarm to summon the fire department immediately. If a person's clothing catches fire cover him with a rug or blanket and roll him in it."

WARNS PUBLIC OF FAKE BILLS

Secret Service Head Discovers Counterfeit $100 Notes, Almost
As Good as Real Ones.

By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Counterfeit $100 bills, so excellent that flaws can be detected only by experts using magnifying glasses, are now being circulated, Allen G. Straight, head of the secret service here, warned today.

The federal seal and the engraving of the serial numbers is perfect, the secret service head declared, the only giveaway being the darker ink in certain spots, uneven shading and the proportion of the sheaf of wheat and the woman with the staff.

BANK BANDITS CHAPPED SKIN

Hand-Dane Duet
Charged With Robbery, Murder.

By JOHN J. VINCENT,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 18.—Possibility that Wilbur Hand, Ohio arch desperado, and Fred Dane, alias Burke, Michigan's "Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde" bank bandit and alleged murderer, were gangster pals at one time, looms here today.

Burke, who posed as a respectable Benton Harbor, Michigan, business man, and then who, according to police was provoked to commit a murder because of a traffic officer's reprimand, is said by authorities to be wanted in connection with the $200,000 American Railway Express robbery at Toledo during which a policeman was wounded to have been slain.

Authorities have often linked Hand's name with the same escapade, which attracted nationwide attention at the time. They have been unable to "pin" anything definite on him, however.

Hand, who allegedly "greased" his way from a jail in Washington, D. C., recently, is perhaps Ohio's most famous police character at large.

There's a BUFFALO In Town— AT A. FEDERHAR'S ON SALE THURSDAY

Buffalo or Bison for centuries was the outstanding big game of North America. The species is believed to have arrived on this continent from Asia by the north land route, during the mid-Pleistocene or inter-Glacial period.

The Buffalo roamed throughout the West in great armies—some historians record bands of countless thousands moving forward on a front of twenty-five miles in width and fifty miles in depth. The Indian conserved the Buffalo killing only as required for his own actual uses, which included food, clothing and shelter. With the arrival of the white man with more efficient weapons, a disastrous inroad on the species began, thousands upon thousands being slaughtered for the mere pleasure of killing.

In 1875 Buffalo were very plentiful—by 1885 they were growing scarce—and by 1890 they were practically gone. To Michael Pablo, a shrewd half-breed of Western Montana belongs the credit of conserving and preventing the extinction of the breed in the far Northwest. From an original nucleus of four calves captured on the plains he laid the foundation for the present herd on the Flathead Indian Reservation in Western Montana.

MONARCH OF THE PLAINS
The North American Buffalo is one of the cleanest, healthiest of all animals. During his entire lifetime he lives upon the "buffalo grass" found upon the prairies of the Great Northwest, and he is reared under climatic conditions that produce the most delicious meat obtainable.

From the time the first Redskin plunged his hunting-knife into a buffalo heart, the meat of the buffalo has been the favorite among game-flavored meat.

When a warrior went for food, he singled out the choicest buffalo of the herd and never left the chase until he had brought down his quarry.

The White Man learned from his red-skinned brother. History tells us that the great trans-continental railroads could not have been completed without the food provided by the buffalo.

"SOMETHING DIFFERENT"
Here's the "something different" you want for your special dinner. BUFFALO meat, something your guests will relish and appreciate as no other meat. BUFFALO will make it a memorable occasion, a dinner your guests will remember for years.

MEAT OF THE PIONEERS
Your dealer has made it possible for the people of your city to enjoy the meat of our forefathers—BUFFALO—the healthiest, finest flavored, most delicious of all game meat. BUFFALO—the food that enabled the pioneers to overcome the forces of Nature.

COOK BUFFALO LIKE BEEF
Buffalo is cooked exactly like beef. Broil or fry the steaks, roast the rump, shoulder, rib and chuck; stew the neck, plate and flank. Buffalo should be fairly well done to bring out the delightfully sweet flavor that makes it such a delicacy.

BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT
Mr. Federhar has brought East from the National Bison Range in Montana a limited quantity of choice Young Buffalo Meat. Prices range from 30c to $1.00 a Pound. Place your order early to secure the cuts that you most desire.

Thrilling Story of Romance of Modern Girl

Chapter 54.
NANCY held the crackling paper in her ice cold hands. The black letters blurred, seemed to grow very big, then very small. To run into one another, so that she couldn't read.
Just one thing was clear. Jack Beamer was dead.
Her heart ached for him. He'd be so disappointed... dying before he... before they... Poor Jack. But she couldn't help being relieved to think that it was all over... that she wouldn't have to go on with it. But supposed they found her letters... or a letter he was writing to her...
She mustn't think of that... it was too contemptible! Thinking of your own letters, wanting to save your own skin while some one who has loved you lies dead... Oh, Nancy, Nancy, you are a bad one... you're not even a good sport any more... not even good enough for Jack!

Angrily she winked back a tear, gripped the paper again, went on reading... Turn to page five, column two... Why don't they have it all on one page?
"It is thought that the millionaire clubman, who was sojourning in the Sierras with Mrs. Beamer was riding for help when the fatal accident occurred. The adventurous pair had ridden over the dangerous Three Lakes Trail which had been closed for more than a year."

"Employees at the High Sierra camp where the Beamers were guests, state positively that danger signs had been posted, and that Beamer who had made inquiries about it, had been specifically warned against it."

"Mrs. Beamer, who has been removed to the hospital at Merced, narrowly missed death when she fell higher on the trail. She is in an hysterical condition and can not be interviewed at the present time."

"R. E. Decatur, a ranger coming in from Gales Flat, was the only witness to the dual tragedy. Decatur, in an attempt to rescue Mrs. Beamer, lost his footing and was critically injured."

"The triple rescue was affected by J. J. MacKinnons, Decatur's assistant at the Gales Flat station. Beamer's body was removed early this morning. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made. Mrs. Beamer's father, Virgil Shalor, millionaire steel magnate of Pittsburgh, is hurrying to his daughter's bedside."

Nancy read it through to the end.
Read it again... R. E. Decatur, a ranger... critically injured... R. E... not even Roger... they had not troubled to find that his name was Roger...
As if from a great distance she heard the chatter of the family. Mama's voice... "Have everything finished before Louise and Matt get back... a really select home for... match the Minton china." Papa talking about interest... grandma talking... everybody happy... everybody wrapped up in themselves, and Roger... oh, why didn't they say his whole name? It would have helped... a little...

In a small, unnatural voice she said, "Did you see... the paper?" Out of the fog of their family chatter mama's voice detached itself, floated to her as if from a megaphone:

"About Jack Beamer? Killed, and his wife hurt too. I meant to speak of it. It just goes to show that you can't be too careful!"

"Jack Beamer? Well!" Papa was interested. "Jack Beamer?" He looked at Nancy's small, pinched face, and looked hastily away again. He was frightfully embarrassed... why, why, she must have loved the beggar! She ought to... to cover her face... her mother would see...

"Guess I'd better go to bed," he said weakly. He felt suddenly tired and sick. "About all the excitement I can stand for one night."

Nancy picked up the paper again, then let it drop despairingly.

"Well, I'm sure I wouldn't worry about him," mama said briskly. "From all I hear he had it coming. But his poor wife—"

Nancy looked at them all with large, stricken eyes. "But you don't understand," she said patiently. "It's my husband."

"Your what?"

"Roger. It says R. E. Decatur here, but it's Roger. He's my husband. He... He may die."

"Your—husband?"

Nancy, you've lost your mind! I never heard of such a thing. What are you talking about? Nancy... you... you didn't marry that... that Gales Flat person...

Oooh... Just when everything was coming out right for us... Nancy... tell mama... When?

Even Grandma tried to talk. "But dear, I thought—"

Nancy fung her arms wide. "Oh, I know... I know—I don't blame you. Mama's right, I've been crazy... but I'm not now. I know... oh, dear God keep him for me... let me make up... let me make up..."

She had flung an old coat over her shoulders, grabbed the purse mama had left on a chair. "I'm going... oh, don't try to keep me... please let me go... don't you see it's my last chance!"

"Nancy, listen to mama! I never heard of such nonsense! You can't go out like that... without, without..."

The heavy front door slammed. Mama put her head in her hands and wept. Nancy had gone.

Papa was having trouble wheeling himself back over the doorsill, but finally he made it. The sounds of the commotion had brought him back. "What's the matter?" All the old worry lines were back in his face. He wasn't a big business man any more, he was just papa... worried... oh, so worried about his girl... "Kitty... what... what happened?" But she wouldn't tell him.

Down the garden steps, through the dahlias and the wild strawberry vines that caught on her long, flapping skirts, Grandma ran with Nancy's little red hat. "Nancy, wait! You forgot your hat..."

wait! Wait for Grandma!" But the wild eyed girl already boarding a steel car at the corner heard nothing but the panting and sobbing of her own heart. She did not know she was headed. If she had known she wouldn't have cared.

"Nothing matters but us, Roger!" she had told him once. "Nothing matters but love!" She had felt brave and reckless saying it, safe within the comfort of his arms.

Four Vagabonds Will Broadcast From KDKA Thursday Night

Edith Calhoun and the Four Vagabonds, of East Liverpool, will be heard in a half hour broadcast from KDKA, Pittsburgh, at 6 o'clock Thursday, December 26. Reading, left to right they are: Mrs. Edith Calhoun, accompanist; Harold Driggs, second tenor; William Stevenson, first tenor; Raymond Alton first bass, and Wilbur Newman, second bass.

wait! You forgot your hat... wait! Wait for Grandma!"

But the wild eyed girl already boarding a steel car at the corner heard nothing but the panting and sobbing of her own heart. She did not know she was headed. If she had known she wouldn't have cared.

"Nothing matters but us, Roger!" she had told him once. "Nothing matters but love!" She had felt brave and reckless saying it, safe within the comfort of his arms.

And now, alone and afraid and conscious that through her own fault she had lost it, perhaps forever, she realized more poignantly than she had ever realized anything in all her twenty years, that it was true.

Money, family, friends... even threatened disgrace... nothing really mattered but the love she had lost.

The Piedmont car brought her into the heart of Oakland. "Can you tell me where I can get a train for Merced?" she asked in a drug-store.

"Fortieth and San Pablo, Santa Fe," the clerk told her glibly.

But at the station the ticket agent shook his head. "No, Miss. Nothing till ten fifteen."

"But I can't—I can't wait that long!"

"Sorry." He looked at the Maltese, white faced girl curiously. She had opened mama's purse, and was feverishly counting the money."

Can't Be Beat For Female Weakness

Women Around 40 Need the (Invigorating and Stimulating Effects of ORANGE ROOT.

Mrs. Ester Stephens, Williamson, W. Va., says "I have been in a general rundown condition so prevalent among women of my age, 40 years. I was extremely nervous, very weak and had spells melancholy and depression. It had no effect on me till I started taking a course of this ORANGE ROOT Iron & Celery Compound. It certainly has been a boon to me, for since taking it and a few of those Golden Nuggets, my nerves have become quiet and calm, my appetite better and my whole system strengthened and stimulated all over. It has also given me a more cheerful aspect on life, as those dreadful melancholy spells don't bother me anymore. Those aches and pains and restlessness have vanished and I feel rejuvenated all over. The Golden Nuggets keep me regulated and feeling peppy and joyful. I notice that I do not get tired like I used to before taking these wonderful remedies. I particularly recommend ORANGE ROOT to all women around 40 years of age, as I have found thru my experience with it that it is just what we need. I take pleasure in endorsing it and the Golden Nuggets, for they are wonderful medicines. "This nationally famous ORANGE ROOT and the NUGGETS are for sale here at MATH- EWS MEDICINE STORE and by all the best druggists everywhere. Accept nothing else recommended 'just as good.' INSIST upon the genuine ORANGE ROOT. If your local druggists don't have it, write direct to the H. & J. Laboratories, Parkersburg, W. Va. —Adv.

CHARLES E. FELTON RE-ELECTED COUNTY SCOUT EXECUTIVE

MAYOR URGES STREET WORK IN WELLSVILLE

Improvement of Clark And Chester Avenues Asked.

THANKS COUNCIL

Retiring City Chief Speaks at Meet of Lawmakers.

WELLSVILLE — Mayor W. L. Fogo last night in his final talk to council before retiring from office at the opening of the new year made an urgent plea for the early improvement of Clark and Chester avenues, petitions for which are now in the hands of council.

Fogo also thanked the members for their cooperation during his term of office and asked that the same consideration be given Mayor-elect George Hardman.

Speaking of the Clark avenue project Fogo predicted that when it is improved it will bring many additional people to Wellsville as it is the main approach to the city from the west. He also pointed out that had the street been improved this year the cost would have been reduced by $15,000 which had been virtually pledged from outside sources.

The estimate of the engineer, he said, was $32,000 for brick and cement construction, while for cement alone it would cost approximately $72,000. The plans call of widening of the street two feet on each side, making it a 34-foot roadway.

Shop in the morning hours

IT IS better to shop in the morning hours than to mourn in the shopping hours that you were not an early bird.

Shop before noon when stocks have been replenished for the onslaughts of the day before. Shop in the morning when stocks are still comprehensively displayed and arranged.

Shop in the morning when salespeople are brisk, refreshed, alert and more attentive than they can possibly be during the rush hours. Shop in the morning when you, yourself, are more fit to exercise your best taste and judgment—when you can shop leisurely, thoroughly, thoughtfully.

Chester Resident Finds
Owa-Ton-Na Valuable
Aid To Health

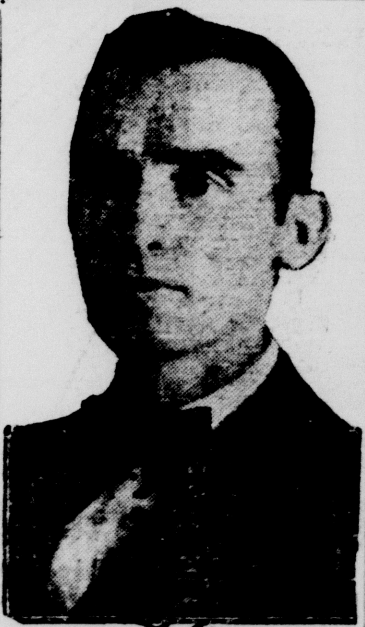

Mr. Rector Recommends This Fine Old Indian Remedy to His Many Friends.

Mr. C. C. Rector, Adolphus street, Chester, W. Va., knows the value of this fine old Indian Remedy. He says: "For a couple years constipation, stomach and liver disorders, have kept me from feeling as good as I should. Frequent attacks of indigestion, gas and bloating spells were giving me a great deal of trouble.

"When Owa-Ton-Na was recommended to me I thought I would give it a trial. I want to say that I find it a very fine medicine. Even the first bottle showed me that Owa-Ton-Na was the remedy I had been looking for. Constipation is relieved and my stomach feels fine. Although I have taken this medicine only a short time, I feel sure that it will not be long until I feel like my former self again."

Owa-Ton-Na has proved its merits in cases of even most obstinate nature. Roots, herbs, barks and berries of which it is compounded were used for generations by the Red Man.

Owa-Ton-Na is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's 114 East Sixth street store and East End store.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. — Ohio prisons were pictured as dangerously overcrowded in a comprehensive report which was issued today by the National Society of Penal Information.

Because of the series of jail-breaks throughout the country in recent months, special significance was attached to the findings which were made in the third issue of "The Handbook of American Prison and Reformatories."

Ohio's prisons are in such deplorable condition they constitute a challenge to the socially-minded citizens of the state, according to the handbook which makes this comment:

"The ancient plant at the state penitentiary in Columbus, one of the largest prisons in the country, suffers from a condition of overcrowding worse than that in any other large prison. The need of an other institution in the Ohio penal system has been apparent for many years, but the state is only now taking steps to alleviate the conditions at Columbus and nothing is being done to provide a second main prison."

"Idleness in Prison.
"Ohio, like many other states, has allowed its prison population to get far ahead of its building program, and socially-minded citizens should demand legislative and executive action without delay."

When overcrowding is coupled with the amount of unemployment found here, the state of affairs becomes increasingly critical.

"The second characteristic of this prison is idleness. Not only are the shops old but they are overcrowded. Even so, there is not enough work for the large population and from 1,200 to 2,000 men are on the idle list. Idleness is made more conspicuous here than in many prisons by the use of the 'idle room,' in which hundreds of men spend their days sitting on benches in absolute idleness under the eyes of guards."

Salaries of officials in the Ohio penal institution are "notoriously low," the report says. Commenting on the construction of the plant at London, Ohio, the handbook asserts that "the institution, well planned and well built, is an interesting demonstration of the type of construction work that can be done by inmate labor."

Unemployment at Reformatory.
Discussing the problem of overcrowding and idleness at Mansfield reformatory this comment is made:

"This reformatory with a population of over 2,900 (including 350 men employed on farms and at other state institutions) is the largest in the country. It is at the same time one of the most overcrowded of our prisons and reformatories and has had a problem of unemployment as bad as that of any other institution of major importance."

"It is difficult to see how a great state like Ohio can longer tolerate the inadequacy of the plant as a whole, designed as it is to take care of that part of its penal population which is considered most reformable and which is most susceptible to environmental conditions, either good or bad. The fact that the same conditions exist at two other major institutions—the state penitentiary and the state reformatory for women—is no justification for the tolerance of conditions which defeats the whole purpose of the institution."

The Marysville reformatory, the handbook adds, suffers from both overcrowding and unemployment. This is the largest institution for women in the country.

SMACKEY RISKS WIN STREAK IN SCRAP HERE

Dempsey Laughs At Sharkey

"Bad as I May be, I Can Still Beat Him."

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—"Bad as I may be, I can still beat Sharkey."

In these slighting accents, Jack Dempsey today consigned the leading heavyweight of the times to the limbo of the limburger and, by tacit suggestion, the entire division with him.

"They're pretty bad," said he. "How good am I? It doesn't matter. I can't be as bad as the average 'good' heavyweight of today."

No, it seemed, John wasn't intending to talk himself up in one of those perennial "will-or-won't" come back things. He wasn't thinking of coming back. Neither was he thinking of staying out. Listening to him, one gathers that he has stopped thinking. They say there is much to be said both for and against it. John is one of those for-and-against guys, anyhow.

Might Fight for a Million.

Tell him he isn't going to fight any more and he'll tell you that maybe he will. Suggest that he will fight and he'll call the police. He said today that he might fight this for "some crazy promoter offered me a million dollars." I said that, if a promoter was that crazy, he wouldn't have a million dollars. This seemed to terminate the discussion.

As for the Sharkey matter, it didn't take long to talk about that, either.

"I wouldn't mind sinking a few more in his body," said John. He was almost wistful about it.

"Do I think I can lick him again? Why not? He's got the same body and I've got the same two hands. I'd like to make him this proposition: That we agree before the fight that no claim of foul is to be made by either fighter and that only the referee is to be the judge of whether a punch is low or not. If the referee doesn't call it, then we are to go on fighting. That's what two fighters are supposed to do, anyhow."

"I don't have to hit a man low to hurt him."

Army Protest May Take Grid Tilt With Irish From Gotham

Cadet Heads Object to Pro-Notre Dame Spirit; Philadelphia Or Baltimore May Get Classic.

NEW YORK, Dec. 18.—Ask any of New York's sports loving citizens, and there are several millions of them, to name the outstanding athletic event of the year and the answer would probably be—the Army-Notre Dame game at the Yankee stadium.

Today Father Knickerbocker stood in danger of losing this sporting gem as a result of a conflict between city authorities and athletic officials of West Point.

Major Phillip Fleming, in charge of cadet athletics, is scheduled to confer with Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, some time next month. At that time the site of the 1930 game will come in for discussion and the game may go to Philadelphia or Baltimore.

According to Capt. W. H. Wells, intelligence officer at the point, the Army was placed in an embarrassing position at last month's game at the stadium when the Army players were not assured of a police escort until late Friday afternoon, the day before the game. Police, it is reported, seemed reluctant to grant the cadet squad aid in passing through the crowded thoroughfares.

Such a proceeding, plus the seeming pro-Notre Dame attitude of the crowd, left a "bad taste" with army officials.

"If New York authorities were not satisfied with the distribution of tickets here, army authorities were not responsible," Capt. Wells said last night. "West Point turned over 1,600 tickets to Yankee stadium officials. With these they were to take care of their own clientele and city officials."

Capt. Wells said there was little chance of the game going to Baltimore and no chance of it being transferred to the west. If it goes to Philadelphia it would be played on Franklin field which has a capacity of 75,000 or the municipal stadium which seats 85,000.

The game next year is scheduled for November 29. Should the Quaker City get the battle, the Cadets and Ramblers would have a clear field, the day being an off one for the University of Pennsylvania.

Johnny failed to distinguish himself, but Frank Nevin, Detroit club owner, as he reviews Dale's first season, figures his investment a wise one. Alexander at one time attended Milliken College down in Tennessee.

POET, DOCTOR SHOULD'N'T WED SAYS NOVELIST

Jars Of Married State Break Former's Rosy Dreams.

Aesop's Frogs, Says Rose Macaulay, Were Right.

PARIS. — Poets and doctors should never marry, says novelist Rose Macaulay, writing in the Paris edition of the "Daily Mail." The jars of the married state, she explains, will certainly injure the former's dreams and they will be far happier single, as will, probably, their spouses. As for the doctors, they are too often called up in the night.

"Marriage," she continues, is really a desperate thing and the frogs in Aesop were extremely wise. They had a great mind to some water, but they would not leap into the well because they could not get out again.

However, the writer has decided that there is much to be said on both sides and that between marriage and celibacy, happiness works out about fifty-fifty. The joy one gets out of marriage usually depends upon temperament, health, wealth and the rest of human lottery.

Marriage is undoubtedly suited to some dispositions and circumstances and not to others. The hasty and excitable of temper, she thinks, should by all means marry, in order to have always at hand an object on which to vent their exasperated feelings. And then on the whole, it is certainly more fun doing things with the right companion, than alone, provided that the companion, chosen perhaps a little at random, does not always prove to be the companion with whom it is the most fun to do things.

That France is a real foe to alcoholism, and sincere advocate of temperance, although she produces some of the finest wines in the world, is proved by a report recently published showing that she is fighting the peril with great success in her colonies in French West Africa, for example, the consumption of alcoholic drinks in 1913 was 62 centilitres per person. By 1927 the figure had dropped to 17 centilitres. She is endeavoring to teach the natives of the tropics under her laws to sip their wine slowly as the Frenchman does in France.

Signs of American hurry and haste are to be seen in a little French cafe-bar near the Place de Clichy. Time means money for the
